

Taxpayers' Suit Filed by Edwards

B. W. Edwards of Hope, a retired contractor, today filed a civil taxpayers' suit for the use and benefit of Hempstead County against former County Judge U. B. Garrett and Harry Robinson, both of Hope, seeking return of certain F-600 Ford Flat-bed truck which Edwards claims is the property of Hempstead County.

The suit alleges that Garrett as County Judge in November of 1960 swapped the truck in question to Robinson for an undetermined amount of sand or dirt. This the suit alleges, is in violation to Act 193 of 1945. The suit seeks return of the truck to the county or a money judgment for its fair market value as of November 1960. The suit was filed by Edwards by James H. Pilkinton, Hope attorney. Garrett and Robinson have 20 days in which to answer.

Mr. Pilkinton said today that he represented a group of taxpayers, of which Mr. Edwards is one, and that further investigation was being made into certain county matters during 1958, 1959 and 1960. He indicated that additional civil suits would be filed "if the facts seemed to justify them."

Rural Defense Topic of a DAR Program

"Rural Civil Defense" was the topic of the program given by Mrs. Joanne Phillips at the meeting of the John Cain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

"This area of Hempstead County will have to be prepared to house and feed evacuees from the territory involving Shreveport, La. in case of an atomic attack," said Mrs. Phillips during her slide lecture. Pictures depicting the possibilities of various attacks on the U. S. and the defense network set up to alert the nation were shown and discussed.

Miss Kay Fuller, D.A.R. Good Citizen Girl from Louisville was a guest of the chapter. Her speech based on freedom of the individual, the community, and industry proved clearly her qualifications for this honor bestowed upon her by her classmates and teachers. She was awarded the D. A. R. Good Citizen pin by Mrs. Arthur Wimmell, acting Regent.

Reports from the State Conference were made by Mrs. Bob Cain, Mrs. Wimmell, and Mrs. Geo. Peck. Outstanding speakers at the Conference, which was attended by seven John Cain members, were Mrs. O. M. Mehous of St. Louis, National vice chairman of press relations and the Educational Consultant for General Motors Corp., Dr. Kenneth McFarland, who was voted the finest speaker in the U. S. in 1960 by the National Chamber of Commerce.

15 Persons Meet Death by Violence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A father and his three sons drowned and two women, one of them a girl on her way to be married, died in a traffic accident to write a tragic climax to a week in which 15 persons died violently in Arkansas.

Four persons died in traffic accidents, four in fires, five by drowning and two in industrial accidents during the week ended at midnight Sunday.

Claude Hodge, 66, a commercial fisherman, and his sons Buford, 28, Woodrow, 35, and Ernest, 30, drowned when their boat sank Saturday on Old River 10 miles south of Snow Lake. Hodge's daughter, Leona, 26, was rescued. They were running fishing lines in the lake, which formerly was part of the White River.

Carol Morrison of El Cajon, Calif., died Sunday a few hours after she was injured when a car driven by her fiancé, 18-year-old Kenneth Sherill of El Cajon, collided with another car near Little Rock. Mrs. David S. Lively, 23, of Dallas, Tex., died soon after the accident. Her 27-year-old husband, driving the other car, was injured.

Miss Morrison and Sherill were on their way to be married, State Police said.

Lyle Crownover, 18, of Gassville, was killed Sunday and two other youths were hurt when their car missed a curve, and tumbled down a 20-foot embankment at Coffey. Injured were Robert L. Morris, 18, and Hoy Haley, 17, both of Gassville.

Man Slightly Hurt in Accident

A. T. Johnston was slightly injured last night when the car which he was driving went out of control into a ditch near Columbus. A Herndon — Cornelius ambulance brought him to a local hospital where he was treated and released.

Samples of Sea Bed to Be Examined

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The first samples of the earth taken from a hole 10 to 300 feet below the bottom of the deep sea have been brought up from below the Pacific off San Diego.

Cores of sand and mud only a few inches long were brought up Saturday by the experimental drill ship Cuss I.

The Cuss I, operated by an oil exploration firm for the National Science Foundation, set a record when it lowered a drill pipe through water more than 3,000 feet deep and punched out samples of earth laid down 11,000 to a million years ago.

Researchers hailed this as a feat of first importance. The samples were examined superficially aboard the ship 18 miles off shore and then refrigerated for further investigation in laboratories ashore.

From the age standpoint, the samples are not remarkable.

The few shell fossils that showed in the cores were similar to those previously recovered by conventional means only a few feet below bottom.

This is the opening move in Project Mohole, an attempt to drop the pipe through 12,000 feet of water and drill into still more interesting earth layers near Guadalupe Island, off the coast of Mexico.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—The body of a 70-year-old South Carolina man who apparently jumped or fell from a speeding Frisco passenger train was found near here early today.

Deputy Sheriff O. C. Johnson said papers on the victim identified him as Lonnie V. Jorvan of North Charleston, S.C.

Johnson said crewmen notified the sheriff's office late Sunday night after a search of the train failed to locate Jorvan.

Railroad officials said Jorvan boarded the Kansas City-Florida special at Memphis and was to transfer at Hoxie for a train enroute to Dallas.

Congolese Soldier on Rape Rampage

By DENNIS NEED

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Nuns have been stripped and one American missionary girl has been raped by Congolese soldiers on the rampage in the rebel province of Kivu, the United Nations reported today.

U. N. Malayan patrols are pushing out from Kindu, trying to reach isolated villages where whites are at the mercy of the Congolese soldiers.

Six Belgians and four other whites, believed to be Portuguese, were flown here from Kivu Sunday. All were badly beaten, the U.N. spokesman said. They told of daily beatings in the streets, pillaging and threats of execution.

A nun reaching Kindu from a mission station at Kasongo told of 48 hours of terror, rape and bestiality soon after the death of ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba last month. The nun, whose name was not disclosed, said nine sisters from the mission were bundled into trucks and carted off to the local jail.

A 75-year-old nun said she was thrown out of the truck and her arms broken and her shoulder dislocated. That nun has now reached Leopoldville.

In a prison courtyard, the nuns were made to dance barefoot on stones and gravel, singing hymns to Lumumba. Then they were locked up in a room for the night with three Congolese soldiers.

"They did not rape us but they did things so disgusting to our poor bodies that we dare not speak of them, much less write of them," one nun said.

White residents in small communities around Kindu live in nightly terror of being ordered from their beds at bayonet point and made to parade naked before jeering Congolese.

In those communities Congolese soldiers break into houses at any time and help themselves to food, money and jewelry.

When the whites protest they are left with nothing to eat, the soldiers reply "You can eat manioc like we do." Manioc is a primitive vegetable food.

Tornadoes Hit State Leaving 40 Persons Hurt in Dozen Areas

Court Orders New Trial for Binns

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today ordered a new trial for Maceo Antonio Binns, 32-year-old Negro sentenced to five years in prison for the Feb. 9, 1960 bombing of the home of a Negro student at integrated Central High School.

The Supreme Court held that Circuit Judge William J. Kirby erred in permitting the state to introduce a confession by Binns. It said the confession was obtained after Binns had been questioned almost continuously for 62 hours without sleep.

"It has been held since 1500 that deprivation of sleep is a most effective torture," wrote Associate Justice Jim Johnson in the 6-1 majority opinion.

Chief Justice Carleton Harris dissented but did not write a dissenting opinion.

Binns and Herbert Odell Monte, an 18-year-old Negro, were charged in connection with a blast which caused minor damage at the home of Carlotta Walls, who was graduated from Central in 1960. No one was injured.

Monte was tried separately and also sentenced to five years in prison. His appeal is pending before the Supreme Court.

The bombing at the Walls home was the second such incident since Little Rock's integration difficulties started.

On Labor Day of 1959, three explosions were set at the offices at the Little Rock School Board, the business office of Mayor Werner Knapp and the empty automobile of Fire Chief Gannalley.

Five white men were charged in connection with those blasts. One pleaded guilty and received a five-year prison sentence. Three others were tried and were sentenced to three years in prison. The fifth man pleaded guilty and got a five-year suspended sentence.

The Supreme Court has upheld the three year prison sentences given the three men. A motion to reconsider the court's decision in the case of E. A. Lauderdale Sr., 49-year-old segregationist leader, whom the state pictured as the ring leader in the bombing plots, was submitted today.

Construction Totals Only $9.1 Million

What do the actions of the 1961 legislature mean to Arkansas? What will happen in the future because of what the legislature did or didn't do. Beginning today, Associated Press writer John R. Starr presents a series of stories explaining the effects of the session's major actions. The first story deals with the $17 million omnibus bill sponsored by Gov. Orval E. Faubus. Others will deal with such things as a proposed $80 million construction bond issue and revenue increases to result from new laws.

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The so-called $16 million omnibus const. bill passed by the 1961 Legislature allocates only $9,163,000 for new construction.

The bill, passed as a companion to Gov. Orval E. Faubus' $60 million construction bond bill, appropriates $16,395,000 for various state purposes, including almost $5 million for non-construction items.

An additional $2,465,000 is a re-appropriation of funds already set aside for various building projects, including $1,250,000 for the State Hospital and $400,000 for the Children's Colony.

The largest non-building item is $2 million for the public school fund, to be used to supplement teacher salaries. The bill was amended to include this appropriation to head off opposition from the Arkansas Education Association. The AEA came out against the bill anyhow.

Other non-construction items are $800,000 for the city turnback fund, $350 to the State Police fund, $100,000 to the Forestry Commission and $50,000 to the Arkansas State Museum.

That beautiful crabapple tree at the home of Mrs. Justine Hamm, 116 West Avenue C, is now in full bloom and can best be seen from the west approach.

Judges' Fine Set Aside by Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A $200 fine assessed against former Polk County Judge John M. Gordon for overpayment on county purchases was set aside by the Arkansas Supreme Court today.

The high court said the state failed to prove that Gordon was aware that he had paid an improper price for two road grader tires he purchased for the county.

Gordon paid $235 each for the tires and witnesses at his trial testified they could have been obtained for as little as $179.69 each.

"It appears there is no regular price list setting cost of the tires at considerably higher than what he paid."

Gordon was suspended from office on conviction, but reversal will not return him to the job since a successor was chosen in last year's election.

The Supreme Court upheld the right of a county to levy a $100 weekly tax for the privilege of practice of fortune telling.

The decision reversed Crittendon Chancellor C. M. Buck who had ruled the tax was prohibitively high.

Buck's ruling came in a suit filed by a West Memphis fortune teller, Julia Adams, who operated as Madame Rose.

The Supreme Court affirmed a 7-year prison sentence given Herbert Finley Jr. on an involuntary manslaughter conviction in Union Circuit Court.

Finley was convicted in the July 2, 1960 dice game stabbing of J.C. Moeks.

Washington Probate Court was affirmed in a case involving the estate of Mrs. Bess Yates, who died without a will on Sept. 28, 1959.

Marion F. Harrison filed suit asking that a trust be established over her property. The court declined to set up a trust but gave Harrison title to certain cattle and personal property which it held he owned jointly with Mrs. Yates.

Seeks Advice About Election

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus is seeking legal advice before he sets an election date for choosing a successor to the late 6th District Congressman W. F. Norrell of Monticello.

"I need advice on the proper legal method for setting the election," Faubus said today.

He reiterated that he intends to set the date this week.

Faubus said the law provides for minimum 30-day wait between the call and the election.

"I may set a longer period," he said. "There would have to be a date for candidates to qualify and this should be well in advance."

Mrs. Norrell and John Harris Jones, a Pine Bluff attorney are the only candidates to now.

Only 4 Believed Critically Hurt; Damage Heavy

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes and violent thundershowers spun across Arkansas last night.

More than 40 persons were hurt and houses in a dozen communities were splintered.

No fatalities were reported and only four of the injured were in critical condition.

Fifty homes were damaged or destroyed in the Conway area alone and power service was knocked out to about 600 customers.

"We don't know when they'll get service," a power company spokesman said.

Twisters injured 14 persons at Busch, Ark., on the Arkansas - Missouri border, and 12 at Woodland near Clarksville. Ten persons were hurt in the Conway area, five at Union near Augusta, four at Ozark, and one at Sheridan.

By midnight, when the huge storm abated, the whole state had felt its fury.

There was no overall estimate of damage.

A storm which roared through the Harrisburg area knocked out power and damaged 250,000 to 300,000 bushels of rice.

A concrete block building at the county fairgrounds was blown down.

Several houses burned during the storm at Conway. It was not known whether lightning or fallen power lines started the fires. No one was hurt in the fires.

Here is a list of the injured in the rash of tornadoes that struck Arkansas Sunday night.

controlled parliamentary government by a confederation of semi-independent states headed by Joseph Kasavubu.

The action of the political conference which ended Sunday, raised hopes in Leopoldville that the way had been opened to an eventual end to the chaos and warfare that has plagued the Central African territory since it won independence from Belgium last summer.

The conference's final communique made no mention of pro-Communist Antoine Gizenga, whose forces control the eastern provinces of Oriental and Kivu.
He was the only major leader absent from the talks. Kasavubu told newsmen that if Gizenga refuses to go along with the conference decision, he will be declared an outlaw. Presumably military measures then would be taken to supplant him.

Kasavubu, who has been the central government president in Leopoldville and the only Congolese authority recognized by the U.N., messaged U.N. headquarters in New York to ask for recognition of the new setup and continued economic assistance. He said partial union has been achieved and the danger of civil war averted.

His cable to Frederick H. Boland, assembly president, and Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold repeated the conference's earlier demand for cancellation of the Security Council resolution of Feb. 21, which authorized U.N.
troops in the Congo to use force
if necessary to prevent civil war.

Kasavubu announced a delegation led by Katanga Province officials would go to New York to tell the General Assembly about the conference decisions.

Moise Tshombe, president of Katanga Province and the man who dominated the week-long talks, declared: "We have settled our affairs among ourselves and now it is necessary that both the East and the West leave us in peace."

The conference agreed on a two-level central coordinating regime to replace Kasavubu's central government in Leopoldville. Leopoldville is to become a federal district like Washington, D.C.

The higher organization will be a council of state, in which Kas-avubu and the heads of the Congo states will set general foreign and domestic policy. A coordinating council will serve as an executive body to carry out the council of state's decisions.

The conference also ratified the month-old military pact in which Kasavubu, Tshombe and Albert Kalonji of South Kasai agreed to

American is Executed by Castro

HAVANA (AP)—William A.
Morgan, American soldier of fortune who fell from national hero to traitor in the eyes of the Fidel Castro regime, was buried Sunday in a crypt beside the Cuban major executed with him.

Friends of Morgan's Cuban wife attended the rites in Colon Cemetery, and a Catholic priest officiated. Mrs. Morgan, in hiding to escape captivity, did not attend the funeral. She and 10 others were convicted of treason along with her husband last week, and she was declared a fugitive.

The five-man court at La Casa de la Libertad sentenced Morgan to death. He was shot in bana Fortress sentenced Morgan and Maj. Jesus Carreras to die Saturday after convicting them of aiding anti-Castro rebels in the mountains. A firing squad shot them in a dry moat outside the ancient fortress a few hours later.

Morgan, 32, from Toledo, Ohio, got a dishonorable discharge from a U.S. paratrooper unit in Japan and in 1957 joined Castro's revolution and after the overthrow of Dictator Fulgencio Batista stayed in Cuba.

Two years later he lost his American citizenship for fighting in a foreign army. But at the time he was enjoying a hero's stature for helping to decoy a group of anti-Castro plotters into a trap.

Later he was demoted to running a government frog farm. He told newsmen last fall that he was a staunch anti-Communist and didn't know how long he would last in his job.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemor-roids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.
In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.
Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dync)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.
This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®.

3 reasons you need a flameless dryer

...and a million more are coming!

Rain is good for the flowers . . .
but it's mighty hard on you, especially when you've just hung out a line of freshly washed clothes! But then, that's why flameless electric dryers are made, to save you cold, wet trips out to rescue the laundry — to save you having to re-wash the clothes — to enable you to dry laundry any day, or any night for that matter.

And, as your Electric Appliance dealer will point out, only a flameless electric dryer gives you all these important benefits:

- Lower in cost . . . to buy and to maintain —
- The nearest thing to sunshine freshness —
- No flames or fumes, no flue is needed —
- Dependable whiter drying, no matter what the fabric —

See your electric appliance dealer this week, then sit back and let it rain!

Showdown in UN Expected on Tuesday

BY WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A showdown is expected today or Tuesday on whether the current session of the U.N. General Assembly is going to be short and sweet or long and bitter.

Some smaller-power delegations planned consultations aimed at bringing out once and for all whether the Soviet Union and the United States can agree on what should be on the agenda.

The prospect is that the 21-nation steering committee of the 99-nation assembly would meet Wednesday or Thursday to fix a closing date for the session, which resumed last Tuesday. There was talk of closing on April 21 and leaving all unfinished business over to the 1961 regular session, which starts Sept. 19.

Neither the steering committee, the political committee nor the special political committee has met yet because delegates have been waiting to see whether the Americans and the Soviets could reach an agreement.

The agenda contains 30 items left over from the first part of the current session. These include such controversial issues as Korean unification, U.N. membership for Mauritania and Outer Mongolia, and racial troubles in South Africa.

The Americans want to put off until next fall all items except disarmament, the Congo, Palestine refugee relief and trusteeship and budgetary matters — with the avowed aim of easing the cold war and smoothing the way for East-West negotiations.

The Soviets in principle want discussion of everything on the agenda except Hungary, Tibet and their own complaint against U.S. reconnaissance flights over or near Soviet territory.

They have demanded that the assembly lay down basic principles for a disarmament treaty.

It's "Hello and Goodbye" for This Wife and Husband

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

I love my husband and he loves me but he won't stay home; he borrows his folks' car and goes off each weekend. I am 17, he 20. We are married two years and have a baby girl just a year old.

Since he is in the Coast Guard and only home weekends, we see little of him. Baby cries and so do I when he leaves. I try to have everything just so when he comes home; baby pretty, me fixed up, house tidied, good meals (I love to cook) and everything a husband wants from a wife. But it's always hello and goodbye.

I guess my husband lacks responsibility. He leaves all the decisions up to me—even asks if he may go out. I hate to tell him no for fear he'll get mad or think I'm fencing him in. What can I do? —Wife and Mother

Dear Wife: Your husband may be 20 and in the Coast Guard but he's acting like a teen-ager not yet out of high school. It's about time he grew up.

You, not he, should get mad. Tell him either he stays home or you and baby go with him. Make it your business to find out what takes him away from home. If it's out with the boys, invite them to a Saturday evening with him at the house. Be firm!

Dear Helen:

I am happily married and have wonderful in-laws. My sister-in-law and her husband are both teachers. Lately he has been very attentive toward me, but hardly says a word when the rest of the family is around. When they are not, he always finds some reason to touch me. At first I thought it coincidence, now I know it isn't. Should I overlook his advances, tell my husband or talk to my brother-in-law himself about this? —M. P.

Dear M. P.: Talk to your brother-in-law. Say you just don't like these amorous actions and to keep his hands off you.

Dear Helen:

A month ago my foster sister wrote that she was getting married. Now her fiancé has told her that he got another girl into trouble and had to marry her. My question is: Should I ask my sister to stay with us awhile or not? —D. D.

Dear D. D.: Why do you even raise the question? Obey that impulse. Be a friend in need to your foster sister. Write for my leaflet, "Broken Romances."

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper.

NIGHT MARSHAL

By F. P. Holmes

THE STORY: Chris Waddell, the night marshal of Midas Hill, a tough mining town, is learning that the keepers of dives and deadfalls on Ute Street run the town. Among them are Breed Garvey, Hogan Geer and Price Ringgold.

CHAPTER VII

The little man at the desk hunched a trifle more forward, his cold gaze boring at Waddell. "You hired him already, Scorbie?"

"Why, yes—I did, Hogan."

"Should have talked it over with me, first. He got more sense than Belsan had?"

"I'm certain of it," Scorbie assured quickly. "Chris, this is Hogan Geer. You want any questions answered about the Gulch, and I'm not handy, just ask Hogan here. He'll give you the right word."

"Just so you understand that, Waddell," Geer said. "And you better! I don't stand for any of my people being pushed around." He stood up, went to the door and room beyond them. "Elvie, Lee, sent his reedy call across the bar-come here!"

He returned to his seat at the desk. Three men tramped in. They were the lean, dark ones who had been sitting at the poker table. While different enough in physical appearance for easy identification, yet family resemblance was strong.

Hogan Geer nodded his bald, bony head at Waddell. "Scorbie just hired him on as night man. What do you think?"

They surveyed Waddell with a supreme insolence. "Looks kinda underfed," one of them said. "Won't be any chore keeping him in line. Long as Ringgold insists on a front by havin' somebody pack a badge, this one will do as well as any."

"Elvie," rapped Hogan Geer. "There's times when you talk too much. That's all!"

The three left. Geer looked at Waddell.

"The Spooner boys. They take care of things for me. You get out of line, they'll take care of you. And next time, Scorbie—you come to me first before you do any hiring."

Someone else, emerging from Millerson's store, was headed for the same place. Norma Vespasian, moving with her free, vigorous stride, Waddell slowed, half wondering, and they met at the alley mouth. She looked at him across a cool distance, saying nothing. But when Waddell dropped in beside her she came around with a swift flare of indignance. Waddell spoke drily.

"You're jumping at conclusions again. It just happens I'm due to eat supper at Mrs. Crowder's, and this is the shortest way I know of to get there."

Color swept up the soft curve of her cheek. "Why bother to explain?" she said swiftly.

"Just wanted you to know my real intentions," he murmured. Emerging from the alley into the open, she angled quickly away to the cottage next to Mrs. Crowder's place. The man who had ridden in at that other cottage earlier in the day, showed on the low front porch.

Waddell heard the girl's quick, glad cry.

"Father!"

Scorbie led the way from the room and from the deadfall, moving swiftly up Ute Street to Shinnit, then turning into the office. He went straight to the corner closet, unlocked it and brought out a sealed fifth of whiskey. He opened it and took a long, deep drag.

Scorbie dropped into the chair at his desk. "I told you it was a dog's life. That men like you and me were looked on as not even qualifying for the human race."

"In this camp—maybe," said Waddell harshly. "But not in other places I've been. Could be it's time something was done to change the opinion, here."

Chris Waddell considered him partly in anger, partly in disgust. And to some degree with baffled sympathy. Somewhere along the last two years, and for some as yet obscure reason, Frank Scorbie had definitely lost all self-respect.

Frank Scorbie spoke, slowly and thickly, as though to himself rather than to Chris Waddell.

"I can remember when it such as Hogan Geer used the tone on me like—he just did—I'd have twisted his buzzard neck. I'd have made him crawl. Instead, with Geer, I crawl..."

He hoisted his legs on to the bunk and flattened out.

Common sense whispered at Chris Waddell, telling him to let this thing be, before he was entirely committed. Still and all, should he take the soft way out,

Sincere thanks to all of those who helped in any way during our time of sorrow.

Berlin Mayor to Visit Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—West Berlin's Mayor Willy Brandt says he is "inclined to believe there will be no new Berlin crisis within the next few months" but adds "perhaps later this year."

Brandt is expected to talk about this and other European defense matters when he meets President Kennedy this afternoon at the White House.

Over the weekend Brandt talked with Kennedy's defense aides. They included Wall W. Rostow, deputy special assistant for security affairs, and Paul Nitze, assistant secretary of defense for international security affairs.

Brandt made his assessment of the West Berlin situation Sunday in a television interview (NBC-Meet the Press).

Education Board Plan Conference

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - The state Board of Education will hold an all-day meeting Sunday, March 26, to discuss how much state aid school districts may expect for their 1961-62 budgets.

Bird said the board would spend all of March 26 going over anticipated revenue and should have some definite figures by end of the day.

Olympic Stars Keep Piling Up Victories

By DAVE O'HARA Associated Press Sports Writer MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) - Olympic stars such as Don Braff, Parry O'Brien and Hayes Jones keep piling up victories, but the comparative unknowns are capturing the fans on the indoor track circuit.

The winning efforts of the veteran campaigners were overshadowed completely by three young potential greats Saturday night in the 10th annual Journal Games before a record Milwaukee crowd of 11,523.

Stealing the spotlight were Jim Grelle, former University of Oregon runner, Bruce Kidd, 18, Toronto, and Dave Mills, a Big Ten champion from Purdue.

Grelle turned the top performance of his career in capturing the invitational mile in 4:03.6, the second fastest clocking this winter.

Kidd, who finished second to Hungarian ace Istvan Rozsavolgyi in the Chicago mile Friday night, moved up to the two mile and won in 8:58.1.

Mills, who lowered the indoor quarter-mile record to 47.2 in the Big Ten meet recently, shaved six-tenths of a second off the Milwaukee 600 mark with an easy victory in 1:10.9.

George Kerr, the Illinois student from Jamaica, ran the second fastest 1,000 in history while edging record-holder Arnie Cumliffe of Stanford in 2:08.1.

Bragg and Henry Wadsworth, former University of Florida star, tied at 15 feet, 5 inches, in the pole vault but the Olympic champion was declared champion on the basis of fewer misses.

O'Brien won the shot with a heave of 61-10 1/2, while Jones, the Eastern Michigan flash, equaled the indoor record of 15.9 in the 50 yard high hurdles.

Rich Man Is Apparently a Suicide

NEW YORK (AP) - Multimillionaire Hanns Dittsheim, 59, Swiss-born financier, plunged to his death Sunday from the roof of a 17-story Bronx building. Police said it was an apparent suicide.

A note from Dittsheim to his wife, Cornelia, was found on the roof. Police declined to disclose its contents but they said it emphasized worry over his health and not his finances.

Mrs. Dittsheim said she awakened in the morning to find her husband missing from their 18-zero estate, Les Oiseaux, in Tarrytown, N.Y. She identified the body here.

Mrs. Dittsheim told police her husband had appeared in good spirits Saturday. She said he spent the entire day at home.

The building from which Dittsheim plunged, one of seven apartment houses in the $16 million Fordham housing development, is owned by the Canal-Randolph Corp., of which Dittsheim was president and director.

Canal-Randolph also is the major shareholder of United Stockyards, the nation's largest stockyard company. Dittsheim and his backers took over the company in 1959.

As president of Canal-Randolph, he had been reported trying to gain control of the huge Montgomery Ward Co., following a similar effort by financier Louis Wolfson that failed.

76 College Teams Head for Tournaments

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Comes now the time of the year when the college basketball fan takes a look at the big NCAA, small NCAA, the NIT and the NAIA and yells SOS.

Seventy-six of the nation's best teams, big and little, start this week the 10-day scramble that will end with four champions of the 1961 season and the answer to the question just about everyone has been asking all year—can anyone beat Ohio State?

After smashing Illinois 95-66 last Saturday, the mighty Buckeyes of the Big Ten start defense of the national collegiate title they won so emphatically last year with the first perfect record of any major team since North Carolina in 1957.

Naming of Xavier of Ohio, Seattle and Oregon to the last three at-large berths completed the 24-team field for the NCAA championship tournament which has preliminary games Tuesday night and Wednesday before settling down to regional semifinal scuffling at Charlotte, N.C., Louisville, Lawrence, Kan., and Portland, Ore., this weekend.

To keep 'em company the 12-team National Invitation Tournament begins at Madison Square Garden Thursday night with the first of six doubleheaders between then and championship day on March 25. The eight survivors of the NCAA small college field gather in Evansville, Ind., for a three-day showdown Thursday, Friday and Saturday. And 32 select teams start week-long competition today in the NAIA tournament in Kansas City.

Ohio State, St. Joseph's (Pa.), Kentucky, Texas Tech, Cincinnati, Kansas State, Utah and Loyola of Los Angeles drew first round byes
